Board Of Education Grants Requests For Use Of High School

Kingston Council of Religious Education to Model Sessions There—Other Matters Transacted at Meeting—Superintendent Van Ingen's Report.

The Board of Education met to transact December business Friday evening, the regular meeting date during the month falling in the Christmas holiday period.

Several requests for the use of the school building were granted. The Alumni Association was given permission to use the gymnasium for the annual alumni basketball game and dance on the evening of December 27. The Kingston Community Concert Association was allowed the use of the auditorium for three concerts during the winter, dates to be determined upon after conference with the superintendent.

A communication signed by the Rev. Lucas Boeve, on behalf of the Kingston Council of Religious Education, asked for the use of five or six rooms in the high school building on five successive Monday evenings, from 7:30 to 9:50, for sessions of a school conducted for the purpose of training teachers to teach. The school operates under the direction of the State and National Council of Religious Education, and is the communication stated, non-sectarian and interdenominational. Sessions are to be held beginning February 19 and ending March 19. Previous schools have been held in the First Baptist Church and in St. James M. E. Church. About 130 attended the school last year. Courses taken up are: Study of early and middle childhood; study of early and middle adolescence; story telling in religious education; the Old Testament; life of Christ; church school administration. On motion of Trustee Feeney the request was granted.

A resolution recently passed by the Kingston High School Alumni Association, endorsing the proposition to erect a Junior High School building, was read and ordered filed. A statement of changes and improvements desired in School No. 8, prepared by parents from that district, was referred to the building committee. The committee listed a large number of changes desired, a number of which the superintendent stated were to be taken up under the CWA.

The Board voted to pay the Y. M. C. A. $100 for the use of the gymnasium for the "Y" for grammar school basketball games. It was stated that the financial condition of the Y. M. C. A. was such that it could not assume the expense involved in the use of their gym for such purposes.

The building committee reported that, acting under a previous resolution, it had let contracts for the installing of a new clock and bell system in the school. Contracts had been let to the International Business Machines Corporation of New York at $2,025 and to Joseph McNellis of Kingston at $1,455. The committee's action was approved.

The committee also reported that four projects for school work had been approved by the State CWA. They are: certain improvements in each of the school buildings, retaining wall at School No. 6, changes in the lighting systems and the taking of a complete school census. Work is now under way in Schools Nos. 3, 4 and 8 and at the High School building.

Bills totaling $2,261.25 and December salaries amounting to $24,765.94, were audited and ordered paid.

Members present were Trustees Walter, LeFevre, Byrne, Feeney, Matthews and President Beeres. Superintendent Van Ingen presented the following report:

To the Board of Education: Probably no school activity is more important than the medical inspection department. Its administration prevents epidemics, relieves want and pain, and helps maintain good standards of attendance.

Robert W. Chambers, Author, Artist Dies From Operation Today

Noted Novelist, 68, succumbs to illness Brought on By Intestinal ailment Three Months Ago—Historical Novels Brought Him Widest Acclaim.

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Robert W. Chambers, noted author and artist, died in Doctors' Hospital here at 1 a. m. today, following an operation several days ago for an intestinal ailment.

Mr. Chambers, who was 68 years old, had been in the hospital nearly three months and three days ago underwent an operation. His condition failed to improve and early today he died.

The author of many thrilling and historical fiction works, will be buried in Brookline, N. Y., where he has a large estate.

Walter B. Chambers, his brother, said the body would be taken to Brookline either today or tomorrow for the funeral, to be held Monday at the estate.

Chambers is survived by his widow, his brother, and one son, Robert Edward Stuart Chambers.

Chambers was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., and started to be a painter, studying at the Julian Academy and L'Ecole Des Beaux Arts in Paris.

After returning to the United States he did illustration for periodicals, including "Life," "Vogue," and "Truth."

But painting was not to be his means of expression, and his fertile imagination demanded the printed page as a means of outlet. So in 1892 he published "In the Quarter," the first of a long and popular series of novels and works of fiction that brought him wide fame.

Justices of Supreme Court Will Be Busy Every Month in 1934

All Five Trial Justices Will Be Called From Vacation Months to Conduct One-Day Special Terms in Albany—Trial Terms in Ulster County.

With special terms scheduled even for July and August, justices of the supreme court in the Third Judicial District will be busy every month in 1934. The calendar, published by Secretary of State Edward J. Flynn yesterday, contains no trial terms for July and August, but all five trial justices will be called from vacation months to conduct one-day special terms in Albany.

All the work of the district has been apportioned among Justices Pierce H. Russell, Gilbert V. Schneek, Ellis J. Staley, John T. Loughran and Sydney F. Foster, because the other two members of the court from the Third District are assigned to the appellate division. They are Justices Daniel V. McNamee and F. Walter Bliss.

Because of the increasing amount of litigation in the Third District, due largely to actions brought against state departments, a new attempt will be made in the legislature this winter to have at least one more justice allowed to the district.

On the first Monday in February, Justice Loughran will go to Albany to continue the January term in Part I.

Trial terms in Ulster county will be held as follows:
First Monday in March, Justice Russell.
First Monday in May, Justice Staley.

First Monday in October, Justice Foster.
First Monday in December, Justice Loughran.

Special terms will be held in Ulster county every first Friday except in July and August. Judge Loughran will preside. Judge Loughran will also hold a special term in Albany county the fourth Friday of July.

Trial terms at which Judge Loughran will preside in the district are:
Greene county, second Monday of January.
Columbia county, second Monday of November.

Rensselaer county, first Monday of May.
Sullivan county, first Monday of March.

Albany county, first Monday of October, Part 2, and the fourth Monday in October, Part 2, Equity.
Appellate Division Terms.

Terms for the Appellate Division at Albany have been arranged as follows:
Compensation Terms.
On the second Monday of January.
On the first Monday of March.
On the first Monday of May.
On the first Tuesday of September.
On the fifth Monday of October.

Order and General Calendar Terms.
On the third Tuesday of January.
On the second Tuesday of March.
On the third Tuesday of May.
On the second Tuesday of September.

On the second Monday of November.
Justice James P. Hill is presiding justice, and the associates are Justices McNamee, Bliss, Leon C. Rhodes, John C. Crapser and Christopher J. Heffernan.

To Serve Hot Coffee During Cold Days

The American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary will furnish hot coffee to men working on Civil Works projects during the cold days of the winter, as long as their funds set aside for this purpose last.

They have the coffee-making equipment. They have the men to serve the coffee. But they need a truck for this purpose. If it is a very cold day Monday they would like to start the hot-coffee service to the workers on Monday.

Any one having a truck not now in use who would like to donate it for this worthwhile service, is asked to call the American Legion Memorial Building before Monday morning.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been reported to the board of health:
Mr. and Mrs. James Cahill of 23 West O'Reilly street, a daughter, Helen Marie, at Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nosenzo of Rosendale, a son, Louis Vincent, at Benedictine Hospital.
Mr. and Mrs. Peter Maroldt of Highland, a daughter, Gertrude Mary, at Benedictine Hospital.

Angry Bees Scared Her Horse, Caused $50,000 Damages, Is Her Claim

Elsie McDougall of Mahwah, N. J., claims Peter Whitehead, Charles de La Vergne and Prescott Clapp "cut down her tree 'maliciously'."—Says Bees Took Revenge on Her.

New York, Dec. 15 (Special)—A suit for $50,000 involving angry bees, a frightened horse and three Woodstock defendants is pending in United States District Court. It was learned here today when the plaintiff, Elsie McDougall of Mahwah, N. J., an archaeologist, obtained permission to take certain testimony by deposition.

The complaint points to the fact that for years a certain family of bees lived peaceably and amicably in a hollow tree of the Glasco Turnpike in Woodstock. They thrived and made honey but never did they as much as buzz at man, woman or horse passing beneath their hive.

That is, until September, 1931. In that month Peter Whitehead, Charles de La Vergne and Prescott Clapp "maliciously", according to the complaint, came and cut down the tree. The bees were infuriated. They declared war.

Two days later, in all innocence and believing herself a non-combatant, Elsie McDougall and her horse appeared on the spot. The bees, evidently mistaking them for the defendants, let fly. They took the horse by surprise, thoroughly frightening him so that he reared throwing the plaintiff to the ground.

For her injuries and her inability to pursue her usual work she asks damages of $50,000.

Those who will be examined prior to trial in the case are the following of Woodstock: William H. Edwards, Ruth Downer, Theron R. Lasher, Rhoda C. Chase, Florence Webster, Dr. George S. Lambert. The Kingston Hospital and Dr. O. B. D. Ingalls will be asked for X-ray records. The examination will take place December 21 before Herman L. Katz of 31 Broadway, Kingston, as commissioner.

Wittenberg Farmer Killed Self Today

Stephen L. Angevine, 71, Reported Despondent Over Domestic Troubles, Shot Himself Through the Head—Coroner Conducted Investigation.

Stephen L. Angevine, 71 years old, committed suicide at his home in Wittenberg this morning. Despondency over recent family trouble is reported to have prompted the act.

Mr. Angevine arose this morning at about 6 o'clock as was his custom. He built a fire in the stove and then went out in the woodshed where he placed his pipe which he had been smoking on an anvil and then placed his coat on the floor. Apparently he then lay down on the coat and placed a revolver in his temple and fired one shot. His body was not discovered until about 8:30 o'clock when a son, Oscar, discovered the body and notified Coroner W. N. Conner.

Coroner Conner and Arthur Keator, his assistant, went to the scene and conducted an investigation. Deputy Sheriff Grant L. Decker, who resides nearby, was also notified.

The body was turned over to V. N. Lasher. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

KINGSTONIANS STOOD IN SLIPPERY PLACES HERE

The sleet, hail and rain storm of Friday afternoon and evening covered streets and sidewalks with a glare of ice and made driving of automobiles dangerous and risky as it was impossible to keep the windshield clear of the ice that obscured vision. Drivers were forced to stop at intervals to scrape a part of the glass so that it was possible to see the street ahead, and many drivers drove with their heads out of the windows. All sorts of plans were used to keep the windshields clear. Some used raw onions to rub the glass, others kerosene oil and some had small candles which they lit and held against the glass to warm it up. Only one automobile collision in which any one was hurt was reported to the police Friday night. This morning the streets and sidewalks were still very slippery and pedestrians had to watch their steps as well as auto drivers the road to see that they did not skid.

Storm Threatened Business

The storm Friday evening cut down the Christmas shoppers throughout town and stores had a light business although those who ventured out brought considerable business to the stores. Stores throughout the city are remaining open evenings for the convenience of shoppers who are unable to shop during the day.

Resolution Adopted To Liquidate Affairs of Former County Bank

Shareholders of Old National Ulster County Bank and Trust Company Name LeRoy F. Port Liquidator to Carry Out U. S. Banking Statute—Old Charter Surrendered.

A meeting of the shareholders of the National Ulster County Bank and Trust Company was held Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock for the purpose of setting into motion the machinery necessary for the voluntary liquidation of the old bank which has been taken over by the new institution, the National Ulster County Bank.

A resolution was adopted placing the old bank in voluntary liquidation under provisions of Section 5220 and 5221 of the United States Revised Statutes, such action to date as of December 15, 1933. LeRoy F. Port was named liquidator to proceed with the liquidation of the old bank. This proceeding was necessary to close up the business of the old institution, surrender its charter and bring to a close the outstanding business.

This is the final procedure in closing up the affairs of the National Ulster County Bank and Trust Company which was closed at the time of the banking holiday last spring. The National Ulster County Bank, a new organization, which succeeded the older banking house, is now carrying on under a new charter the banking business of the "white bank" as usual.

The motion to adjourn was adopted without a dissenting vote.

Alderman Epstein at the close of the meeting asked that the common council go on record as approving the CWA in getting the city's quota increased to 1,200, and urging the local administration to use its best efforts to get the quota further increased by an additional 500 men.

Alderman Doherty said that there had been considerable criticism as to how the men were picked who went to work on CWA projects and that he knew of men who had been registered since the National Reemployment Service opened an office here who had not had work, while others who had received cards to go to work.

The motion to adjourn was adopted without a dissenting vote.

Arrest Truck Driver, Seize Liquor Load

Officer Leonard Arrests John Petrarca of Union City and David Smith of Brooklyn on Charge of Violating Rules of Liquor Control Board—Jack Clair Arrested.

Seventy-three more cases of liquor were added to the supply the police are now holding until it is determined by court action what disposition will be made of the liquor. The 73 cases were added to the stock on hand when Officer Leonard arrested John Petrarca of Union City, N. J., and David Smith of Brooklyn, and seized the truck they had in charge which was loaded with the cases of liquor consigned to a local concern. The police now have about 150 cases of liquors stored in the finger print room in police headquarters.

The two men were charged with having no transit receipts for the liquor they were transporting, and with not having permanent signs attached to the side of the truck. They are also held for driving a truck with license plates issued for another make of car.

Attorney John M. Cashin appeared for them in police court this morning and entered pleas of not guilty on their behalf. Judge Culliton fixed bail in the sum of $200 for Petrarca, the driver of the truck, and $50 for Smith, his helper. A hearing was adjourned for a week.

Jack Clair Arrested.

The third arrest for alleged violation of the rules and regulations of the State Alcoholic Control Board was that of Jack Clair, who was arrested by Officer Roselli Friday afternoon on a charge of having the windows of his place of business at 71 Chambers street curtained so that a clear view of the interior could not be had from the sidewalk. Attorney Cashin also represented Mr. Clair and entered a plea of not guilty and the hearing was adjourned until next Thursday.

WELFARE COMMITTEE WILL MEET MONDAY

Saturday Society Review

Following the concert at the high school last night, Miss Elise Hasbrouck held a reception and supper party in honor of Richard Crooks, tenor, and Frank La Forge, composer-accompanist, the artist of the evening. The hostess's residence at 299 Clinton avenue, long known in Kingston society for its charm and hospitality, was never more deserving of its fame than last evening as the guests were cordially received by Miss Hasbrouck and her father, the Hon. Gilbert D. B. Hasbrouck. Later Mr. La Forge delighted the members of the party by playing the well loved "Liebestraum" by Franz Liszt, "Waltz in A-flat" by Brahms, and by giving a beautiful and artistic improvisation.

The event of outstanding interest during next week will be the Junior League Revue, Wednesday, November 20, at 8:15 o'clock. All those who have been so fortunate as to observe any of the rehearsals or are in any way connected with the production, are unanimous in agreeing that this year's Revue will decidedly surpass the very fine one of 1932. In support of this conviction they point to the ability of the "stars," the cleverness of the skits, the gorgeousness of the costumes and the elaborateness of the settings. This year the Junior League is particularly fortunate in the wealth of exceptional dancing talent with such artists as Miss Beulah Phelps, Miss Winifred Soldan, Paul Yocan, all of whom have danced for metropolitan audiences; Miss Marion Obenaus, Miss Odilia Riccobono and Miss Harriet Carlton, of Stone Ridge. The list of vocalists includes Mrs. Allan Hainstein, Robert Hawkey, Leonard Stine, Miss Alice Trowbridge, Miss Ruth Morris, Donald Clark and Mrs. Chas. Crowley of Rhinebeck. The dance and song numbers these artists will be supported by able, well drilled and colorful choruses. Following the performance the Junior League and their friends will gather at the Governor Clinton Hotel where they will hold their annual dance. This affair, as always, promises to be one of charm and distinction. A mid-night supper will be served for those who wish it. Those desiring to reserve a table may call Mrs. Charles Arnold, chairman of the dance committee. Music for dancing will be furnished by the Montanas.

Tuesday evening the Kingston College Women's Club laid aside all pretensions to dignity and enjoyed an evening of whole hearted fun. The evening opened with a short business meeting with the president, Miss Evelyn Nance, in the chair. At this time, six new members were accepted into the club: Miss Grace I. MacArthur, B. A., M. A., dean of women at New Paltz Normal School, and a graduate of Franklin College and Columbia University; Miss Anne Herzog, a graduate of Emerson College; Miss Helen M. Demsey, B. A., of Mount Saint Vincent; Mrs. Harry Goldworthy, A. B., Vassar College, all for active membership and Miss Adena Joy, B. S., Oregon State College, all as active members, and Mrs. Kenneth Le Fever of Sweet Briar College, as an associate member.

The meeting was then turned over to Miss Jean Estey, chairman of program, who with her committee, Mrs. Myron Teller, Mrs. William Hasbrouck, Mrs. Charles Arnold, Miss Agnes Scott, Miss Mildred Healy, Miss Florence Baltz and Miss Elsie Rice had arranged an evening of games, magic contests, and intelligence tests. Prizes in the various events were awarded to Mrs. Clarence Dunn, Miss Adena Joy, Miss Elsie Mantelstock, Miss Agnes Smith, Miss Helen M. Demsey and Mrs. William Hasbrouck. Refreshments were served, the evening closing with a grand march, at which time each guest claimed her present from the tree. The hostesses were Mrs. Rose K. Witter, Mrs. Richard Shultz, Mrs. John Steketee, Miss Madeline Tarrant, Mrs. Russell Thomas, Mrs. Arnold Van Laer, Mrs. Howard Van Winkle, Mrs. Roy Webster, Mrs. H. L. Winter, and Miss Gertrude Somes. The next meeting will be held January 9 at which time Dr. Leo J. Palmer, of the Wallkill State Prison, will address the group.

This evening the Society of Medical Jurisprudence of New York City will celebrate its fiftieth anniversary with a banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Distinguished members in the field of law and medicine will speak, among them Dr. John Finley, Dr. Nathan B. Van Ethen, the Hon. Archibald B. Watson, Dr. George L. Brodhead and the Hon. Oscar W. Ehrborn. Dr. Brodhead, who is president of the society, is a former Kingston boy and both he and his wife have many friends here.

Robert S. Rodie of St. James street left Tuesday for Palm Beach, Fla., where he expects to spend some time at The Breakers.

On Tuesday evening Miss Gertrude Brinler entertained at dinner at her home for the committee chairmen of the Junior League and their husbands and friends. Her guests were Mr. and Mrs. George V. D. Hutton, Mr. and Mrs. William Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob H. Tremper, Jr., Miss Elizabeth Terry, Miss Beulah Phelps, Burton Davis, William Merrill, and John T. Hall.

Dr. Robert Agnew of Montclair is the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Oxholm at their home, Rosemont, Kenosha.

On Wednesday Ralph Gregory and Joseph Herbert motored to Wellesley where they met Miss Jean Gregory and Miss Rosalene Preston who returned with them to Kingston for the Christmas day for their vacation. Both Miss Gregory and Miss Preston are sophomores at Wellesley College.

Last evening Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dunbar of Hurley entertained at their dinner guests, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hall and Miss Winifred Mrs. Dunbar with their guests attended the Richard Crooks concert.

Christmas Seal Sale Brings $3479

The County Tuberculosis Nurse, Miss Katherine Murphy, is constantly on the lookout for cases of tuberculosis even in the most remote sections of this county. Nursing service is given to many of these cases who are forced to remain in their homes. Others are sent to the new Tuberculosis Hospital.

Today there is a very serious tuberculosis problem in childhood. Many children, apparently in the best of health have tuberculous infection. The accepted way to find out whether or not infection exists is to administer the tuberculin test. The children who react positively are then X-rayed to find out the degree of infection that has taken place and those who need it are given medical care, a little extra rest and a little extra feeding. Chest clinics are held at stated intervals.

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" says an old adage. With this thought in mind, the Tuberculosis Committee has for seven years conducted Camp Happyland. At this camp, needy undernourished children are restored to health by proper food, sunlight and proper exercise.

It is the money, both large and small amounts, sent in at this time for Christmas Seals which enable the committee to carry on such a program.

Name-Changing Made Game So Soviets Boost Service Fee

Moscow (AP)—Changing of names has become such a popular proletarian game that officials have been forced to raise the price for the service in an effort to control it.

It now costs 61 roubles compared to the nominal three roubles charged before. But despite the raise, it is estimated that more than 500 annually will continue the practice in Moscow alone.

Armed with a self-respect they never enjoyed in czarist days, hundreds of workers and peasants now consider offensive nicknames given their ancestors by masters and landlords in the time of serfdom and which have been handed down to them as middle names.

So when Krasnochtanov ("red pants") wishes to be known as Orlov ("eagle"), Polovinkin ("half a man") as Korolev ("king") or Durakov ("fool") as Umanov ("wise"), the government encourages them to change.

Likewise, it likes to see them abandon names with a religious meaning such as occurred recently when Dakonory ("deacon") changed to Volny ("liberty") and Bogoslavensky ("appearance of God") switched hers to Komsomolova ("young communist").

All that is necessary is to register intention at the vital statistics bureau, pay the fee and wait three months for the careful check that determines whether there is any criminal purpose in the desire to change identities. A daily column is devoted to the publication of such changes in the official newspaper Izvestia.

In recent months, however, abuses of the practice were noted in floods of applications, chiefly from women, who merely didn't like their first names. Dina, Anna and Maria wanted to be, respectively, Thekla, Maria and Anna.

One man, Evsey Fedorov, both good Russian names, wished to be known hereafter as Rene Reed, motivated probably by foreign motion pictures.

So the government hopes by the increased charge to discourage abandonment names with a religious

Farm Bureau Dairy Committee Program

Fifteen Farm Bureau dairy committeemen and leading dairymen of the county met in New Paltz Thursday evening and arranged a comprehensive program for increasing the income on water county dairy farms. They agreed that herd improvement, through breeding, offered the best opportunity. Therefore it was decided to carry on a complete sire improvement project during the coming year.

The first step will be to have a big launching meeting in January. A sub-committee consisting of John Schoonmaker, H. H. Becker, C. L. Allen and Albert Kurdt, will make the arrangements for this meeting. This will be followed by letters to all dairymen in the county offering bulletins and service letters containing information on sire improvement and herd improvement. These will be supplemented with posters, meetings, tours and exhibits. A committee consisting of M. T. E. DeWitt, John Schoonmaker, H. H. Becker, Frank Elliott and C. L. Allen will make the final, detailed program for the campaign.

The matter of cooperative Bull Associations was also discussed at some length. This was followed by the organization of the first Bull Association in Ulster county. The officers are: Raymond Dullis, president; Henry Mertz, vice-president; and Frank Elliott, secretary-treasurer. Other members of the association are David J. Dullis, Clifford Hottel, R. Deyo Borcharding and Fred Dullis. This group will develop plans to own a number of bulls cooperatively and by changing them from one herd to the other, save considerable money, by avoiding the necessity of buying another bull every two or three years.

Christina, the Christmas Doll

SYNOPSIS: Christina, stolen from Toyland by a chimney witch is brought to the One-Legged Giant. They want to keep Christina, who is being sought by the ice and snow fairies.

CHAPTER VI THE NORTH WIND HELPS.

AS CHRISTINA stood in the giant's hand and tried to entertain his court, the snow fairies and the ice fairies were racing up and down the great white fields of snow that lie around the North Pole.

They were seeking Christina and they stopped everyone they met to ask for news. But the silver foxes hadn't seen her. The North Wind had been away. The Northern Star had been napping in a snow cloud.

So the fairies sat down in a circle on the snow and held a council.

"Well, it's plain that which would hunt another chimney," said a tiny ice fairy who glittered blue in the moonlight.

"That's true," said the leader of the snow fairies. He looked round as a snow ball. "Let's find out where all the hidden castles are up here."

So they all shouted, "Hoo-hoo! North Wind!" And he came racing out of the sky.

"You travel farthest in the north," said the leader of the snow fairies.

"Do you know any castle where chimney witches live?"

"Let's see, let's see," said the North Wind. He stamped up and down the sky until his tail looked like a comet.

"Sure enough," he said. "I've seen a lot of them around the castle of the One-Legged Giant of the Mountain. That's just over the tip of the world. You follow me."

He whirled off across the sky and the fairies flew after him as fast as they could. Suddenly they saw just what Christina had seen—the great castle with all the chimneys, sitting on top of a rocky mountain.

Just outside the gates they stopped. How were they to get in? There were sleeping giants at each side of the gate.

"Hee, hee, hee," giggled one little ice fairy. "I have such a funny idea. I know how we'll get in. Watch!"

She tipped up to the giants and then tickled their noses with her wings.

"Ka-choo!" they both sneezed, until they blew the gate wide open and in whisked all the little fairies laughing and giggling at their success.

There they were in the long hall, down at the end of the castle where the giant's throne room, and there stood the little doll telling stories.

TAKING THE TRAIN TO A DINNER PARTY

This Worth evening gown is in black tulle with the ruffles over the shoulders contrasting at the waistline at back into a flat fabric incrustation at front.

The evening suit costume that is dramatic both in silhouette and in development of color and fabric, consists of jacket and skirt of electric blue bagheera with huge collar of silver fox, and bodice of patterned metal.

Gold metal cloth backed with black satin results in a medium that has the effect of a polished surface with no hint of weave or fabric texture. This frock by Doranow, produces a new interpretation of the high-cut neckline with bodice fullness.

The association of ruffles and black tulle of which this gown is made, does not prevent it from retaining a long, graceful silhouette, suitable for wear by debutante or matron. The ruffle, in graduating width, is less pleated.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Many important looking evening gowns are worn with little jackets in matching length, the bodices are very low in the back, and the shoulder straps as slender as a wire string.

The shirtwaist theme in formal fashions is continued in groups of resort clothes, with fabrics of the mousseline type selected for the blouses and crepes used for the skirts.

Feather trimmings are important in evening fashions, with ostrich, glycerine and uncurled, also black and peacock, introduced as borders on capes and sleeves of dresses and jackets.

Import collections give lots of prominence to reds, bright reds especially in daytime and dinner fashions in crepes more than woolsens.

The hood influence is manifested in dresses and also in capes, often not the actual hood, but a draped manipulation of the fabric that gives the hood outline.

Companions plenty are shown for the travel two-piece costume that consists of suit with topcoat or just a suit. Some of them are tris in stead of twosomes with a monotone check and a color contrast check in the same weave, plus a plain. Becoming lemon, mint, Madonna blue tints with black and white over-checking, tiny, are joined to plain pastel grounds for dressmaker resort suits. Some of them use rabbit's hair in the overpatterning, thereby gaining a thick texture look and a vagueness of pattern that is pretty.

Flannels will exhibit lots of pattern in resort sports items, too. Sun pastels (approximately named, sun-dances) are rampant in the gay flannels for tennis frocks, skirts, shirts and shorts.

Gray makes an important appearance in chiffon and also in satin for evening wear, and in crepe and lightweight woolsens for daytime, that many of the motifs have a silvery tone, used for evening fashions.

The mannish collar that adopts the upstanding and turnover effect derived from a man's shirt and the boyish small collars reminiscent of Mainbocher and Chanel are looked upon with favor.

A version of the peplum reveals it not only below the waistline but repeated above, having the appearance of a cuff, belted in the center.

Frothy Party Frocks Ashore Or Afloat

Copyright, 1933, by Fairchild.

Back fullness is a highlighted feature of an evening gown fashioned of brown net embellished by gold and brown circle dots, which is to be copied in white for the South. A lively contrast is expressed in capricious velvet ribbon.

A ruffled silhouette is approved in a black net gown posed over black tulle, and the Placet ruffle at the neckline flares down the back to meet the bottom at the waistline.

The tulle outline adds to the charm of a long-sleeved gown in white crepe tulle, the tulle delicately embroidered all over in pearl beads. The skirt trails at the back.

A frothy young dress is fashioned by baby blue tulle, the many-stored skirt repeating the crisp tiered outline of the crepe. Satin ribbon at the waistline is a soft finishing.

Capelets and the Softer Dress

Copyright, 1933, by Fairchild.

Above left, a frock from Lyolene in puce color tulle has the skirt fullness arranged at back and the sleeves ruffled at the shoulders have a separate lower section tight to the arm. High neckline and belt are tied in neat tail ends.

A formal costume in black chiffon velvet has a highlength capelet with double ruffled border while the frock has back fullness released in a train. When the capelet is removed the bodice top is trimmed with a guipure lace collar in a off-the-shoulder effect.

A capelet which has a quaint quality despite its military aspect is developed in black ottoman and bordered in black silk fringe. A dashing air is given by the red satin lining. Deep tucks on the shoulders are aids to the fitted silhouette.

One of the oldest pieces of naval equipment still in use, is the boat-swin's pipe. Its origin is lost in the annals of time, but interested researchers have traced it back almost 200 years.

Models in a Softened Mood

(Copyright, 1933, by Fairchild.)

This frock from Augustabrand is of bottle green flat crepe, which derives chic from the way in which the fabric is draped or folded. Although the bodice is simple, it is pulled tightly about the waistline, quite high; the bulky sleeves, just covering the elbow, are a midwestern fashion; the skirt is plain, but covered at one side by the two long pieces which knot together at the side of the waist.

The cape costume from Hagerdell the cape itself is of grey tulle, with costume with neck and shoulders of black tulle. The skirt is of the same fur. With it is worn a white blouse also in costume and a white tulle skirt at dress, with the peplum at side and back in irregular pointed edge.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 15 (AP).—The stock market was subjected to a rather vigorous bear drive today and quoted values sagged 1 to 2 or more points below their support arrived. The selling flurry lasted about half an hour, but the volume in the period was the heaviest of the session. The close was heavy. Transfers approximated 300,000 shares.

Traders who expected a boom in the gold price were again disappointed and many apparently decided under the circumstances to try for a short play. Indications as to next week's news, however, brought scattered short covering just before the finish. Most of the leaders, thought ended around their lows. Wheat and corn dropped about a cent a bushel in early transactions, cotton was a bit lower and other commodities were ragged. Foreign exchanges were fairly firm. Bonds were mixed.

Some analysts, however, pointed out that the short interest in stocks was still negligible, notwithstanding today's flurry, and that some buying seemed for the moment to be lacking. It was also thought, in some quarters, that the better business outlook may have been already discounted to some extent.

Where Squirrels Live
Chickadees, the common little red squirrel, is at home in almost any place, even in the orchard, about the barn, or in the attic, where one squirrel can make more noise than two boys. But the larger gray squirrel is a shy and timid creature of the forest, of the hardwood ridges and the scattered heights, where there is plenty of oak, hickory, beech, butternut and sugar maple. In favorable locations they will congregate in considerable numbers, living amicably together.

New Golf Club Approves Reports

New Course Will Be Opened For Regular Play on Memorial Day—Financial Condition of Club Reported.

There was a meeting of the board of governors of the Wilkysack Golf Course this week at the club house on Hurley avenue at which time various reports were given. The one report which proved to be most gratifying was that of the finance committee which reported that while the club was not in an extremely prosperous condition still every outstanding bill had been paid, all work thus far done had been paid for and the club has some cash in the bank. This report was very acceptable to all members.

Naturally weather conditions have caused all work on construction to cease but Mr. Goodman reported that the club would be ready for opening of the coming year. Prior to the opening of the course for play how-to-play practice and for lessons. There will be a professional in attendance to give lessons at a moderate charge either by the lesson or for a course of six or twelve lessons. Lessons will be given by appointment.

It was also stated at the meeting that this was the season of the year to have golf clubs overhauled and repaired so as to be in condition for the season. Mr. Goodman at the club will inspect and repair clubs for readiness when the spring season opens and such work will be done either by bringing the clubs to the club house or by calling 2509 and the work will be called for.

The matter of drawing up a constitution and by-laws and rules for the club was also discussed. T. C. Goodman and Roger H. Loughran were appointed a committee to arrange for rules and the matter of by-laws and the constitution will be settled at a meeting to be held the second Monday of January. The question of dues and joining fees has been fixed.

The matter of forming a ladies' committee was left to Mr. Goodman and a meeting will be called early after the new year to form such a committee. Notice of that meeting will be given.

The members of the club are well pleased with the progress which has been made on the course thus far under the direction of T. C. Goodman. The spring will provide fine for getting the course in excellent shape for the opening on Memorial Day.

Crooks Played to Large Audience

Early Financial Crook.
After the Napoleonic wars there was a boom period, followed ten years later by a crash. The Bank of France had to come to the help of the Bank of England by lending it $10,000,000 in gold. A little more than 100 years later the Bank of France and the federal reserve banks of the United States again had to come to the rescue of the Bank of England with loans of $100,000,000 each.

Says City's Quota Should Be 2,000

Palmer Canfield so informed Kingston Workers' Cooperative Association at Public Meeting Held Friday Evening—Peter Fisher is Disputed Mr. Says—The Broadway Crossing Situation.

Palmer Canfield of the Kingston Workers' Cooperative Association, at a meeting of that organization held Friday evening at the house of the same name, said that the city should have a quota of 2,000. He said that the city should not stop at any all-around figure, but that the objective should be to get the quota raised to 2,000. Mr. Canfield spoke at some length at the meeting, which was held at the home of the same name. He said that the city should not stop at any all-around figure, but that the objective should be to get the quota raised to 2,000.

Mr. Canfield called attention to the fact that he had sent both telegrams and letters to the State CWA and that they had helped materially in getting Kingston's allotment raised from 650 to 2,000. He said that the city should not stop at any all-around figure, but that the objective should be to get the quota raised to 2,000.

He said that he knew of a needy family where the father had only had a few days work on the relief and that there was no food in the house and no fuel. The children of the family had gone to Mr. Canfield's house to get warm. He said that several of the children had applied for shoes so as to be able to go to school and had been told to come back next summer. Mr. Canfield said that there were hundreds of children who were in need of clothing and shoes in order to attend school.

The only remedy for these conditions was in getting men to work, he continued. That was the reason that he was fighting for the working men and he would continue to fight no matter who opposed him.

Mr. Canfield said that one of the engineers of the railroad had called to see him in regard to the elimination of the Broadway crossing project. The matter was being held in abeyance until the new administration took office the first of the year and until the attitude of the incoming administration on the subject could be obtained.

Peter A. Fisher, secretary of the association, called attention to the new location of the association office which is now at 574 Broadway. He said he had got to a point where he was disgusted in more ways than one and that it was probably best if he weighed his words at this time. He said that the local CWA was to be commended on what it was doing and said that there was plenty of discussion of favoritism in handing out CWA jobs.

Former Alderman Ralph Mann suggested that something be done to place women at work. He said that there were at least 100 married women whose husbands were making $2,000 or more a year and who also held jobs, and that these women should take a year's leave of absence so that women who needed work could fill their places.

Alderman-elect Charles Burger said he had the names of 200 men who had formerly worked on the relief but who were not working on the CWA, and could not get work. He said he also had the names of some men who had quit to take jobs on the CWA and he had affidavits to that effect.

Mr. Canfield advised him to take the matter up direct with the local CWA and if it did not act to take the matter up with the State CWA and if action was still not obtained to appeal direct to the federal administration.

Other Cities Follow Kingston's Example

In newspaper dispatches and over the radio upstate cities are patting themselves on the back because their police departments have issued orders that no arrests be made for parking violations during the holiday shopping season. As a matter of fact these cities are several years behind Kingston, for the city's police department for years has been instructed by Chief of Police J. Allan Wood to show consideration to motorists in the business sections of the city, and make no arrests for parking violations. In fact the orders are to show every consideration and courtesy to motorists who drive to the business districts to do their holiday shopping. When Chief Wood's attention was called to the news items from Troy and Albany regarding no arrests for parking he observed that that was nothing new for Kingston although the police department had never sought any publicity but had always been instructed to show every courtesy to autodrivors in the business districts.

Safety Pin Is Ancient.
Safety pins, instead of being a modern invention, as most people suppose, are so old that their origin is lost in the midst of antiquity, says Pathfinder Magazine. A very beautiful specimen was dug up in Sweden, the workmanship of which was quite rich. The ancient safety pins were made of bronze—an alloy of copper and tin. It was at a comparatively late date that men learned how to make a fire hot enough to smelt iron and make steel. Most of our safety pins are still made of brass.

HOW FOREIGNER OBTAINS HIS FIRST, SECOND PAPER

The naturalization process foreigner experiences in this country consists of two steps. The first is the filing of a declaration of intention of becoming a citizen or, as it is popularly called, "taking out first papers." The second is the formal petition to a court for admission to citizenship; this is "taking out second papers."

The declaration of intention may be filed at any time after legal entry into the United States as an immigrant. At least two years must elapse between the making of the declaration and the filing of the final petition. It is also provided that a petition for citizenship cannot be filed until the alien has been a resident of the country for five years. Before the "second papers" are granted, it is necessary to pass an examination as to fitness and general knowledge of the working of the American form of government. For those who wish to see them, there are classes in some cities for the instruction of aliens preparatory to taking the examination.

In larger cities declarations and petitions may be filed either with the United States District court, or with the Court of Common Pleas.

How Long Shipbuilding Has Been Real Business

Shipbuilding is one of the most ancient of the arts. Egyptian drawings, dating probably from about 3000 B. C., show boats constructed of planks, having sails as well as oars. From ancient sculptures it appears that the ships of the Greeks and Romans were propelled by wind and oar and were built with keel, ribs and planking, strengthened crosswise by benches on which the rowers sat. The Phoenicians were probably the most skillful mariners of ancient times, and at a very early period had developed a type of war galley. The Vikings of Norway, used ships of considerable strength of frame, but very light draft. The European nations steadily improved in shipbuilding and the war was gradually superseded by the sail. Larger and speedier vessels were required for the development of commerce. The development of shipbuilding as a science, however, may be said to date from the middle of the Nineteenth century, and to have been a direct result of the use of iron and steel in ship construction and the application of steam to propulsion.

The famous Aztec calendar stone, now in the National Museum of Mexico, is a block of basalt weighing 25 tons and having a diameter of 11 feet. Encircling the head of the sun god is a diadem bearing hieroglyphics representing the divisions of time and the Aztec method of numbering the years. The number of days in their year was 365, as in ours. Each year had a different emblem repeated every four years. The first year was called Tochtli, or rabbit; the second, Acatl, or reed; the third, Tezcatl, or flint; the fourth, Calli, or house. The years were further arranged by thirteens, four such periods making a Mexican age. When the city of Mexico was taken by Cortez in 1521, and the great temple destroyed, the calendar stone was left in the square. It was buried in 1555, and not recovered again until 1700.

How many stars do we see under favorable conditions on a moonless night? Only about 3,000 with the unaided eye. But the stars visible through the great 100-inch reflector on Mount Wilson? Ah, that is another matter. The astronomer takes photographs of limited areas, and then counts the number of stars on a square inch of the photographic plate. By averaging the number per square inch, and knowing how large an area of the sky a square inch represents, he multiplies the average by the whole sky area. The result is estimated at not less than 1,000,000,000.—Kansas City Star.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—Some political observers believe that republicans will be able to launch a concerted party attack on the President's monetary NRA and farm policies in the coming session of congress.

There will be individual sharp shooting, but as at present, Senator Dickinson of Iowa and Senator Harkness of West Virginia, as well as some of the others, may be expected to continue their criticism.

One republican senator, for example, recognized generally as being one of the strongest of politicians, is said to have put his foot down on suggestions of a solid party attack beginning at the very start of the session.

A republican leader of the house declared that he doubted the wisdom of open warfare. It is his belief, he said, that the best policy for his party is that of passive resistance rather than outspoken criticism.

The Lay Of The Land

What should be able to tell before very long how the land lies, he said. "Until then, for one, I am not in favor of sounding off too much."

Two recent congressional elections

Vague Existence

The wearing of ornamental red stones, shells and teeth among primitive people is due, it is said, to their belief in the magical efficacy of these things as talismans.

Psychology

It is the great discovery of the so-called new psychology that our own true motives of action are rarely what we flatter ourselves they are.

tions have had their effect on the attitude of many republicans. In Pennsylvania, for example, it was with the advice of Governor Sproul that the republicans did not even oppose the democratic nominee.

In the third congressional district of West Virginia, a republican defeated the democratic nominee, the defeated former Governor, more than 5,000 votes.

The victor stood squarely behind the administration's policies. Given in his campaign, the NRA and farm programs were not working satisfactorily.

The democrats hailed the victory as a clear indication of the administration's strength.

Straws In The Wind

THERE is a strong sentiment for inflation evident among those members of congress who have returned to Washington prior to the session. There are signs many of them are willing to go along with the President on his monetary policy for a while if business shows improvement.

Other reported moves by the administration to improve the monetary situation, principally the persistent rumor that something will be done to renege silver, have had their effect, also.

Force of Buoyancy

A solid immersed in a liquid is buoyed up by a force equal to the weight of the liquid displaced. The velocity with which the submerged body will rise to the surface will depend on the relation between the weight of the solid and that of the liquid. Buoyancy is simply the upward pressure exerted by the liquid.

Canrera Agrees to Duel With Loughran In Miami on Feb. 22

New York, Dec. 16 (AP).—For the first time in 39 years, Florida will play host to a heavyweight championship bout this winter if Madison Square Garden can clear up a few little odds and ends.

The Garden announced yesterday that Primo Canrera had agreed to defend his title against Tommy Loughran in Miami February 22, but no contracts have been signed and Primo still will have to get approval from Louis Soreti, Italian banker who shares the champion's management with Billy Duffy.

Canrera insists, however, that Soreti quickly will give his consent to the bout, first heavyweight title match in Florida since Jim Corbett knocked out Charley Mitchell at Jacksonville and first winter duel for the championship since Jack Dempsey beat Bill Brennan in the old Garden in 1920.

Although Garden officials said Loughran had agreed to the match, there were rumblings that the Philadelphia, who conquered Jack Sharkey and Ray Impehieri in his last two starts, still was seeking to get better terms than the 12 1/2 per cent of the receipts customarily granted challengers.

Canzoneri Takes Over Locatelli

New York, Dec. 16 (AP).—Tony Canzoneri was back knocking at Barney Ross' door again today, demanding another chance to regain the lightweight championship.

The doughty little New Yorker qualified for another title shot last night when he handed Anacleto Locatelli, gamster from Italy, a bad beating in Madison Square Garden.

That victory, gained on points in ten rounds, left Tony more than ever a logical challenger for Ross, young Chicagoan, who won the lightweight title from Canzoneri at Chicago in June and then beat him again in a return match here three months later.

The Garden indicated it was making every effort to match Canzoneri and Ross for the third time as a feature of the outdoor season early in the spring.

The profit for the football season amounted to only $25 and so far in the basketball course, $45 has been lost.

GRAPHIC GOLF

IN DEEP bunkers with rather precipitous sides the ball should be played off the left foot. Turning the toe of the clubhead to the right, i. e., opening the clubhead, figures largely here in direct ratio to the distance to be covered and the steepness of the banks. The shorter the yardage, the more acute the angle of the bank, the more the clubface should be opened. The body is turned quite left to the line of play and the hands and arms taken back outside the line so that in the downstroke the swing comes in across the ball. The clubhead itself does not actually touch the ball, lifting instead the sand well back of it and this force explodes the ball up and out.

Cock-of-the-Rock, Most Beautiful Bird in World

In the Venezuelan jungles, near the lonely Brazilian border region, the cock-of-the-rock, sometimes called the most beautiful bird in the world, goes through a remarkable dance routine. The performance, writes a correspondent in the National Geographic Magazine, takes place on the ground, witnessed by a score or more of other flame-colored males and their companions, gathered on bushes.

While the audience cheers approvingly, the dancer, with lowered wings and outspread pumping tail, whirls round and round, scratching the ground and springing into the air. When it tires another male takes place. There seems to be no data to the duration of these marathons.

Other dancers of these hills are more numerous and even more accomplished, are the mannikins. There are one little fellow with jet black and bright blue cap; another, of the same diminutive size, exactly like the first, except that the blue cap is replaced by one of white; and a third of the same stature, with orange head and red boots.

All are denizens of the deep shadows of the undergrowth, and in the dusk might well be mistaken for the little back-coated gnomes, as they go so seriously about their intricate dances. But some one has called them "pigeons" because the dancing seems to be done at the bidding of the males.

Shark Never Relaxes His Search for Food in Sea

No one has ever seen a shark asleep, although they may bask in the sun with a lazy fanning of fins, either on the surface or on the sandy bottom in shallow water. Omnivorous, they are to be ever hungry, roving, relentless the tiger of the sea apparently never relaxes his vigilance, never ceases his search for food, which is gulped down whole. From birth in the dim lanes, a shark has to keep that ghastly tail waving constantly, to be on the alert in an unrelenting search for prey.

Sharks are the greatest fish in the sea, says a writer in the Baltimore Sun. They glide silently up brackish river mouths, play in sunlit tropical waters, migrate by the millions along the coasts of our country, and live at the 200-fathom mark under the ice of Greenland's shores, where the kimos have caught them for decades. They have been undisputed rulers of their domain for millions of years. Yet mankind is only beginning to know the truth about them.

There is something indefinably sinister in the appearance of these monsters. The sight of a shark, ugly green fin slicing in signals across the surface, then disappearing with a swirl, leaves one with a sense of dread.

Her uncle, Bedi Bey, was formerly counselor of the Turkish embassy at Washington. Her sister, Fazile Shevket, is an assistant professor at Istanbul University. Their father was formerly governor of Baghdad.

Land for the White House
The principal owners of the land on which the city of Washington is built were Daniel Carroll, Samuel Davidson, Notley Young and David Burnes. The land on which the White House stands belonged to David Burnes, an aged Scotchman, who very reluctantly gave up his 600 acres for the federal city when negotiations were in progress for buying up land for the National Capital. Daniel Carroll owned a large tract of land along the eastern branch of the Potomac river, which includes the site of the Capitol.

The Black Watch
The origin of the Black Watch dates from 1725. They were the dress of their country, a tartan of dark color, which gained for them the Gaelic appellation of Frèdèrnan Du, which translated is Black Watch, in contradistinction to the regular troops, who wore scarlet coats and were called Red soldiers. They engaged mostly in police work until 1740, when they were regularly organized into the Forty-second Regiment of the Line. Their war history began at the Battle of Fontenoy.

Drug Smugglers Cautious
Drug smugglers do not make the London detective's life any more pleasant living. Drug-taking is a spreading habit. Every year the orientals and their agents in suburb and city successfully smuggle tons of cocaine and hundred-weights of opium into England. Efforts to prevent it seem hopeless.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

CHICAGO—For clues to solve the slaying of Robert Frank, a printer, the police had a few strands of dog hair found on a muffler about the dead man's neck.

They scoured the neighborhood until they found a dog whose hair matched their clues.

Following the animal home they arrested four inmates of the place—two men and two women.

The men, the police said, confessed.

Riding Young Cow.
Forest City, N. C.—M. H. Kennedy went to his barn to milk but the cow wasn't there. The door was locked and she couldn't have been stolen.

Kennedy was puzzled until he heard a noise overhead. He found the cow had walked up a stair to the second story of the barn. She wouldn't come down.

He used a windlass to get his milk supply to the ground.

Joseph, You're Excused.
Eric, Pa. It cost money but Joseph Hauser was aroused for jury duty and then excused. He said a hangover kept him from showing up.

Judge William E. Hirt told him never to report again, and fined him $6.60, the cost of the deputy sheriff who went to get him.

In Old Tibet.
Chicago—When you order flapjacks in the morning you're doing something the Tibetans did some 2,000 years ago. So said Dr. Berthold Laufer of the Field Museum of Natural History. They went in for the buckwheat kind.

A Wolf Takes Flight.
Fairbault, Minn.—The wolf will be routed from the doors of many needy families in Fairbault for the Christmas season by 25 squads of three little pigs.

Fred W. Hubbard had contributed to the community chest 75 pigs, to be butchered and distributed in more than 250 baskets for the needy for the Yule holiday.

The Very Meanest.
Chicago—The apparent height of this "meanest thief" business came when someone took the Christmas presents that had been collected for the crippled and dependent children of the Martha Washington Home. New presents were bought for the children, however.

Timely Justice.
Philadelphia—From now on, prisoners awaiting hearings will do no more cooling their heels around police stations while magistrates linger over their breakfasts. John J. O'Malley, Philadelphia's new chief magistrate has ordered his subordinates to be on their assigned benches and ready for duty at 9 a. m.

"The magistrates are servants of the people, and not vice versa," O'Malley observed.

The Grim Reaper.
Monmouth, Ill.—Death came oddly to John P. Conlins, a farmer of near Rossville.

A cow fell on him while he was milking the animal.

Collins was smothered to death beneath the beast.
